Remember back in 1621 when England's persecuted pilgrims fled to America in search of the Internet's most kickass deals on knee-highs and ironically worn belt buckles?

And thus the first Cyber Monday was born, just days after the first Thanksgiving, with the tradition continuing today as millions of turkey-breathed shoppers set to take to the Web on Monday in the name of shameless frugality.

The travel industry, of course, won't dare miss the party — here, 15 vacation ideas you can book on the cheap come CyMo.

New York

That six-pack of iconic Big Apple hotels immodestly known as the Triumph collection — the Iroquois New York, Hotel Chandler, Hotel Belleclaire, the Cosmopolitan, the Gershwin and the Washington Jefferson — is upping the Cyber Monday ante (rates at each will be slashed 30 percent for stays Tuesday to March 31), allowing cocktail hour bookers to knock an additional 20 percent off that, between 4 and 5 p.m. Add that up and we're talking a full half-off deal. You also get a chance to win a six-course tasting dinner for two with wine pairings at Chandler's Juni restaurant after you jump through a few of their social media hoops. Winner TBD Dec. 8.
